Lab One

Reynaldo Alvarez

Reynaldo.Alvarez1@Marist.edu

February 1, 2018

1 Problem One - Dragon

1.1 Language Processors

A compiler is a program that can read a specific source language and then translate that language in order for the code to be understood by a language that is different than the source code, which is called the target language.

A compiler allows code in a specific programming language to be translated and ran in another programming language.